Milan, September 27. N. S.

COUNT Harach is ſpeedily expected back from the Imperial Court, whither he is gone to receive the Emperor's Orders in relation to the Repartition of the Forces this Winter. They talk of Eſtabliſhing great Magazines at Suſa for the Subſiſtance of the Army, who have Orders to keep the Field as long as the Seaſon will permit. They write from Leghorn, that two Dutch Privateers had taken and carried in thither four French Ships, and that two of them were of Marſeilles. Letters from Rome ſay, the Differences between that and the Imperial Court are not yet Accommodated; that the Pope's Anſwer to the Emperor's Demand of a Subſidy to be raiſed on the Eccleſiaſtical Revenues in the Milaneſe being not Satisfactory, his Imperial Majeſty has made other more important Demands, which it is thought will oblige the Pope to comply with the firſt Propoſal. His Holineſs has ſent Orders to the Cardinal Legat at Urbin to Command all ſuch Perſons of Quality of both Sexes as were come thither to wait on Donna Bernardina, the Pope's Relation, immediately to depart, and the Legat is to take care that no Viſits be made to that Lady for the future. The Reaſons that have obliged the Pope to this Injunction are not known. The Marquis de Prié hath not yet appeared in the Character of his Imperial Majeſty's Ambaſſador, the Ceremonial to be obſerved between him and the Conſtable Colonna being not throughly adjuſted. The Count de Gubernatis, the Duke of Savoy's Envoy, complaineth much of the Delays the Pope's Commiſſaries make uſe of in accommodating the Differences between the two Courts, and is order'd to inſiſt, that for the future the Pope ſhall aſſign no Penſions out of the Eccleſiaſtical Benefices in Piedmont, but to Natives of the Country.

Copenhagen, October 4. N. S. The Daniſh Fleet under the Command of Admiral Guldenleuw being arrived before Koeg, a Town upon the Coaſt of this Iſland, and four Daniſh Miles South from hence, was attacked by the Swedes this Day between twelve and one at Noon. The Engagement, which laſted about an Hour and a half, was diſcerned from hence, and a large Daniſh Ship was ſeen to blow up in the Air. Since the Fight, we are told that the Swedes had twenty ſix Ships in the Action, and that only part of the Daniſh Fleet was engaged, the high Wind hindring them from coming to a cloſer Engagement. Both Fleets have been endeavouring to get the Wind of each other; they are ſtill on the Coaſt, and the Swedes at preſent lye neareſt to this Place, ſo that it is thought they will engage again to Morrow. A Courier juſt arrived from Elſinburg ſaith, the Report there was, that the Gottenburg Fleet was put to Sea in ſearch of the Daniſh Squadron in thoſe Parts.

Bruſſels, October 11. N. S. We have no Advices from Spain, but what we received in private Letters of the 25th of September from St. Sebaſtian, and of the 6th Inſtant from Paris: As theſe Letters are imperfect in their Accounts, and diſagree in ſeveral Circumſtances, we can give no entire Credit to them. They tell us the Portugal Army was arrived in the Neighbourhood of Toledo, and that Count Staremberg had defeated a Body of the Enemy's Troops under the Marquis de Bay, without mentioning any of the Particulars of that Action. They add, that the Dutcheſs of Anjou was arrived at Bayonne with the Prince her Son, and that the Duke was come to Vitoria, the Duke of Vendome having repreſented that there would be no Security for that Prince at Valadolid or Burgos. Yeſterday the French ſuffered us to receive one Mail from Spain, which being dated the 8th of September bringeth us no other Account, but that the Duke of Anjou was at that time preparing to leave Madrid, where, according to our private Letters from thence, his Catholick Majeſty was proclaimed the 21ſt. Several Officers of the Walloon Regiments, that were made Priſoners in the Battel, have been releaſed upon their Parole, and are arrived at Ghent. They unanimouſly agree, that the Enemy's Troops were in a very low Condition before the Engagement, having received no Pay during the whole Campaign; and that when they ſet out for Flanders, the Remains of the Army amounted to no more than ſix thouſand Men, under the Command of the Marquis de Bay.

Falmouth, October 2. The Orange Galley, Michael Jorden Commander, is put in here with five Doggers in Ballaſt, bound for Ireland; from whence are arrived three Doggers laden with Butter, for Holland.

Plimouth, October 3. Yeſterday came in the William and Robert from Liverpoole, with Lead Oar for Rotterdam; and the Swallow of and from Dartmouth, with Rye for Lisbon. This Day came in three Dutch Ships in Ballaſt, bound to France.

Yarmouth, October 4. Yeſterday paſſed through our Road a Fleet of Light Colliers from the Southward for Newcaſtle. There continue in our Road her Majeſty's Ships the Folkſtone, Advice's Prize, Jolly, and Shoreham's Prize.

Cowes, October 4. Yeſterday came into this Road the St. Diego Auguſtine of and for Bilboa, from Amſterdam; and juſt now came in two Dutch Doggers.

Portſmouth, October 5. Yeſterday Morning her Majeſty's Ship the Plimouth was forced back by contrary Winds, and in the Evening the Lord Portmore came on Shore, and is now at the Governor's Houſe in this Garriſon. There are at Spithead her Majeſty's Ships the Plimouth, Rumney, Tyger, Reſerve, Dover, Sorlings, Dreadnought, and Phœnix Fireſhip.

Deale, October 5. Her Majeſty's Ships the Ruſſel, Sunderland and Poole ſailed yeſterday towards the River; but the reſt of the Queen's Ships, and all the Outward-bound, are ſtill here: And this Morning came in hither the Tuſcan-Galley from Leghorn.
